El Bastardo is Bad Dog Boogie guitar player (www.baddogboogie.com), a well known italian "Pig rock'n'roll" band, that has been playing all over Europe in the past 8 years. A noisy guitar player? Yes, but this is his acoustic project and his romantic mood.

Since his teen years he has been influenced by old time music, bluegrass and blues, r'n'r, folk and roots music and all the artists representing it: from Robert Johnson to Bill Monroe, from Sonny Terry to the Nitty Gritty Dirt band passing through John Hammond, acoustic Rory Gallagher, Doc Watson... Also Billy Bragg and traditional irish music.

El Bastardo performs live completely alone playing all sorts of guitars, harmonicas and flat back mandolin, proposing really cool ad involving shows! Acoustic sets but a r'n'r attitude.

Even Mike Compton from the Nashville Bluegrass Band appreciates El Bastardo's warm and passionate sound.
